City and County Mull Joint Dog Control Venture

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
The City of Kingston and possibly the County of Ulster may be going into the animal control business together, replacing the SPCA, The Freeman learned today.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig confirmed reports that city officials were setting meetings with town and county officials to discuss the dog situation.

The problem arose after the SPCA voted on June 1 to cancel its contracts with the city and the county as of July 1. The city's contract is for $10,000 per year while the county has a $7,000 contract for animal control with the humane society, headquartered at Brabant Road in the Town of Ulster.

The SPCA notified City Clerk Louis F. DeCicco by letter on June 9 that it was canceling its contracts with the city and the county as of the July 1 date.

The letter, signed by SPCA attorney John Egan, noted that the contracts were illegal because they did not contain a provision allowing the State Department of Agriculture and Markets to procure animals from the SPCA for scientific experimentation purposes. In order to be legal, the letter noted, any contracts would have to include that provision. However, the letter also noted that the SPCA is opposed to any such clause, seemingly making any future (legal) contracts with the city or the county impossible.

Alderman Edward M. Norton (D-11th Ward), the Council majority leader, and chairman of the Finance, Ways and Means Committee, is coordinating the setting up of meetings with county officials. Letters are being sent out to County Clerk Albert A. Spada and Chairman of the Legislature Peter J. Savago.

Mayor Koenig, noting that the SPCA deadline is only about two weeks off, called for immediate action. "Time is short," Koenig said today. "We have to have dog control in the city. We have a responsibility to the residents."

Special

Asked if he were ruling out any further agreements with the SPCA, the mayor answered, "it certainly looks that way."

Koenig suggested the possibility of a county dog pound with the various municipalities, including the city, paying for its upkeep and operation.

Meanwhile, Norton told The Freeman that he and Alderman John P. Heitzman (D-First Ward), chairman of the Council's Auditing Committee, would continue their investigation of the SPCA records. "We want to make sure that their reports to us are accurate," Norton said. "We want to make sure that we got what we paid for."

The Auditing Committee refused to approve the monthly voucher to the SPCA for $833.33 at the June meeting of the Council because the Council did not receive a report from the SPCA.

There have been two public meetings on the SPCA, one on June 7 and another a week later. However, no definitive action was taken since Mrs. Katherine Stoutenburgh, president of the SPCA did not appear at either.

On June 17 word was received that Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walters, shelter manager and office worker, respectively, at the SPCA had been fired. The Walters came to the SPCA in March from Newton, Ohio, where Walters had been a humane agent for a county humane society.

They were hired by Mrs. Stoutenburgh. The SPCA president, reached by The Freeman last week, offered no reason for the dismissal of the Walters. They were also ordered to leave the apartment at the SPCA where they lived.

Savago, initially, indicated some opposition to the idea of a county pound, stating that it might be better for each town to operate its own.

City officials hope to meet with their county counterparts later this week on the dog situation.

County Screens List For 500 Welfare Jobs

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON
Ulster County Welfare Department has already begun screening persons on the welfare rolls to sift out those who are employable in order that they may comply with the State Legislature's "get a job" edict which goes into effect July 1.

Harold Larsen, case supervisor for the county, said there will be about 500 persons who will fit the employable category and who will, after July 1, have to pick up their semi-monthly checks at the New York State Employment Office rather than receive them by mail or secure them at the local welfare office.

Because of the large number of employables the welfare recipients will necessarily be phased into jobs over a period of time.

The Welfare Department is presently preparing letters to go out to all recipients telling them which date they must appear and make application for employment at the New York State Employment Service, Pine Grove Avenue, Kingston.

Under the new law, if a recipient is scheduled to appear and apply on July 9, for instance, he or she would receive only an interim check from the Welfare Department to cover them from the first of the month, Larsen explained.

Due to the presently tight employment market, he and others anticipate that job placement will prove a problem. However, although the New York Employment Service generally counsels people in securing jobs and tries to place them in suitable employment, they will, of necessity, be placing persons in "any job" if no others are available.

"It's a mandate," commented the department of Labor Unemployment Insurance: "and there is going to be a priority given the welfare recipients as far as the Employment Office is concerned."

Larsen said the state is "in deadly earnest" about the employable welfare recipient getting a job. In spite of the condition of the job market, the state is concerned with changing attitudes concerning welfare, and urges welfare recipients to become job oriented, he explained.

"It's the most radical change in attitude, I've seen," he said following a recent state meeting he and Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons and two other local welfare staff members attended recently in White Plains.

House moves toward decisive vote on a $2,400-a-year family income floor... Story Page 3.

Fitzsimmons said that if the State Employment Service is unable to place the employable in jobs, then local government will have to provide work through new public works programs.

The law states that such public works projects must be developed by Oct. 1. They may include jobs such as caretaking at county parks and properties, road and park work, various duties at the county infirmaries and other county, town or village institutions.

New jobs in the public works area must be found without jeopardizing or displacing existing employee's jobs.

Those considered employable also include all persons 16 years of age in the home relief or aid to dependent children categories. Exceptions would include those having a verified significant illness or incapacity, minors attending school fulltime, those needed to care for children or incapacitated persons at home and, those 65 or older.

Persons up to 65, including those 62 to 65 who are collecting social security, would also be referred for jobs, Larsen said.

Failure to report for a job will result in removing a person's eligibility for assistance.

Even employable mothers with children, will have to prove that they cannot get child care.

Douglas V. Dye, (R-Dist. 2), chairman of the Ulster County Legislature's Social Services Committee and long time advocate of welfare reform, called the state's move "a step in the right direction."

Commenting that the taxpayer is already paying for welfare without receiving anything for it, he pointed out that under the proposed public works projects "at least the taxpayer would be receiving services for his tax dollar."

Meanwhile, the UPI reported the unemployment picture brightened in some areas of the state last month but increases in joblessness in New York City and Rochester resulted in no net change statewide from April's 5.5 per cent, it was announced Monday.

Total unemployment in the state was 460,000, or 5,000 more than for April. Total unemployment a year ago was 355,000.

In New York City the jobless total for May was 211,800, or 5.1 per cent, compared with 204,000 or 5.0 per cent the month before.

Elsewhere in the state: Albany-Schenectady-Troy—3.9 per cent compared with 4.0 per cent the month before.

Binghamton—6.1 per cent; 6.6 per cent the month before.

Buffalo—6.2 per cent; 6.3 per cent the month before.

Rochester—5.6 per cent; 5.4 per cent the month before.

Syracuse—5.5 per cent; 5.7 per cent the month before.

Utica—6.7 per cent; 7.1 per cent the month before.

Highest Living Increase in Five Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — May's jump in living costs, biggest of the year, sliced another half a cent off every dollar.

The Nixon administration's hopes to curb inflation received a second jolt Monday when the Labor Department announced claims for unemployment insurance climbed substantially last week.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said consumer prices rose five-tenths of one per cent last month with half of the increase caused by higher prices for apparel, used cars, homes and the rising price of stamps.

It was the sharpest increase in the cost of living since a five-tenths rise last December, and even higher-six-tenths—on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The report came only hours after Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans told a labor convention, "The rate of inflation has now come within controllable boundaries and this has been achieved without a major dislocation in the nation's economy."

Speaking to the AFL-CIO Seafarers' International Union, Stans said "in the first quarter of this year the rate of inflation was down to about 3 per cent—about half the average in the first quarter of 1969."

The report said "in the three months ending in May, the consumer price index rose at an annual rate of 4.2 per cent."

The May rise pushes the index up to 120.8 of its 1967 base of 100, meaning it cost $12.08 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases four years ago.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate House Joint Economic Committee, called the CPI rise alarming. In a statement, he said the time is long past for setting up of presidential wage-price guidelines.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien called upon President Nixon "to convene immediately an emergency economic conference to draft a comprehensive action plan to save the American economy."

When coupled with the 6.2 unemployment that was reported two weeks ago, it is clear the Nixon economic game plan is a shambles," O'Brien said.

Food prices rose slightly, while prices of commodities other than food, which usually show no change in May, rose seven-tenths of 1 per cent. Charges for consumer services rose six-tenths of 1 per cent, with a fourth of the increase resulting from higher postal rates.

The total number of Americans receiving unemployment insurance the week ended June 5 was 9,947,000, up 30,900 for the week and 365,400 above a year ago, which the bureau described as substantial increases.

Viet War Papers Cases Go Into the Appellate Courts

By United Press International

The federal government, in two separate cases which may be before the Supreme Court within a week, went into the appellate courts today to keep The Washington Post and The New York Times from publishing any more of a secret Pentagon report on Indochina.

The Post case was being heard in the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington and the Times case by the U.S. Court of Appeals in New York.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell in Washington Monday ruled in favor of the Post, saying publication of the report did not threaten national security and that freedom of the press outweighed the government's objections to the case.

"The government has failed to meet its burden and without that burden being met, the First Amendment remains supreme," Gesell said. "Any effort to preserve the status quo under these circumstances would be contrary to the public interest."

But the appeals court intervened on the government's request and ordered the Post not to continue its series on the report until it ruled on the case today. The Post was told not to publish anything on the report until 5 p.m. EDT today. The newspaper complied.

The Times also received a favorable ruling from U.S. District Judge Murray Gurfin Saturday but the appeals court in New York prohibited publication until after a panel of three of its members could rule on the case.

Because of the issues involved in the case, it was decided Monday that the entire eight members of the appeals court should hear the arguments and the hearing was postponed until today. If the court decides an odd number of judges is needed it could call a senior retired jurist to sit in.

The two cases have received expedited treatment in the courts because the issues involved—national security and freedom of the press—are so great the cases will almost certainly go to the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court is expected to end its current session Monday, necessitating the haste.

The government has argued that publication of the 7,000 page report which was ordered in 1967 by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara could damage national security and relations with other countries.

The newspapers have argued that the report may embarrass some persons but could not be considered dangerous to the national security.

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Globe printed today what it said were unpublished portions of the 47-volume secret Pentagon study of the origins of the Vietnam war. It reported that in October 1961 Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor advised President John F. Kennedy to order an 8,000-man task force on South Vietnam.

The Globe offered this summary of the highlights of the documents made available to it: "Gen. Maxwell Taylor advised President Kennedy in 1961 to send 8,000 American combat troops into Vietnam but warned the move could lead to increased world tensions and a wider war. There were 1,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam at the time of the negotiations to end the war."

The Globe said its dispatches were making public for the first time "the role of the Kennedy administration in the escalation of the war."

Whitney North Seymour Jr., the U.S. Attorney in New York, indicated in a brief filed with the appeals court Monday that the government might take a different tack toward the Times by claiming the free press guarantee no longer applies when the President designates something as classified material.

The Times published three installments of a series on the report and the Post two before the government got temporary injunctions to stop them. It believed both series are based on the same report although there has been no confirmation of that and the stories have dealt with different incidents.

Gesell, who denied the government's first request for a restraining order against the Post Friday, refused to change his mind Monday after a full day of public and closed testimony.

Gesell said the government presented a "responsible and earnest appeal" and added that it showed that publication of the report could be embarrassing and could compromise national diplomacy.

But he said: "There is no proof that there will be a definite break in diplomatic relations, that there will be an armed attack on the United States, that there will be an armed attack on an ally, that there will be a war, that there will be a compromise of military or defense plans, a compromise of intelligence operations, or a compromise of scientific and technological materials."

"In considering irreparable injury to the United States, however, it should be obvious that the interests of the government are inseparable from the public interest. These are one and the same and the public interest makes an insistent plea for publication."

"There has, moreover, been a growing antagonism between the executive branch and certain elements of the press. This has serious implications for the stability of our democracy. Censorship at this stage raises doubts and rumors that feed the fires of distrust."

LWV ORIENTATION — Kingston League of Women Voters Membership Committee conducted a poolside orientation for 19 new and prospective members Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rita Jackaway, Richmond Park. Poolside relaxation was combined with a discussion of the League's philosophy, program and areas of service. Participating in the orientation were (L) Connie Poag and Bonnie Kingsley, prospective members; Mrs. Jackaway, hostess and Gloria Plasker, membership chairman. Chairmen of the various active studies participated in the program by holding small group talks which encouraged guests to join in the discussions. Active studies include Environmental Quality with Mrs. Shirley McLane, chairman; State Finance and Education headed by Mrs. Diana DuMoulin, Voter Service Chairman Mrs. Anne Harris discussed the upcoming elections and the role of LWV. Mrs. Jackaway reported on the revision of the LWV booklet, This Is Kingston, a summer project which consists of the study of Kingston municipal government. Dr. Erna Moss, local president welcomed the group. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Saugerties Board Ratifies Contracts

Saugerties Central School Board of Education Monday night ratified the 1971-72 contracts with Saugerties Teachers Association and Saugerties Principals Association and it is expected that the membership of both associations will ratify the pacts in the near future. Tentative agreement on the teachers contract was announced during the weekend by Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dexter O. Arnold and William Provost, president of STA. The contract with the principal's group is fundamentally the same as the current year's pact except for salary increases. Major changes in the teachers contract include an increase in the base salary for beginning teacher with a bachelor degree from $7,300 to $7,650. The starting salary on the master's track increases from $8,025 to $8,450. Salary credits for semester hour of study is increased from $17.50 per hour to $20 per hour. Chief negotiators for the teachers contract were Graham Barkhuff for the STA and Administrative Assistant Harold Bell for the School Board. Negotiations began in the middle of January. The School Board also recognized the school district unit of Ulster County Chapter of Civil Service Employees Association as the sole bargaining agent for secretaries, clerks, teacher and library assistants, audio-visual assistants, cooks, food service helpers, cashiers and cafeteria monitors. Negotiations with the teachers reached an impasse May 4 and subsequently a State Public Employment Relations Board fact-finder entered the negotiations and filed his recommendations.

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

BOICEVILLE There were no protesting teachers holding signs aloft as the Board of Education met Monday night at Onteora High School. But members of the Onteora Teachers Association, who long since reached an impasse with trustees and administration in contract negotiations, settled on an ingenious method of getting their dissatisfaction across.

Board members and public alike were greeted by the sight of an antique truck, parked conspicuously near the front entrance of the Boiceville school. Read the large yellow sign on one side of the bright red truck: ONTEORA TEACHERS MAKE PEANUTS. On the opposite side, a similar sign proclaimed: NEGOTIATE. DON'T DICTATE! Once past the truck and inside, the board meeting in the cafeteria played to a near capacity crowd, composed mostly of teachers. They had come to hear newly elected OTA president Dorothy Birmingham make a statement in their behalf.

Miss Birmingham pointed out that early in February, both groups jointly accepted the Class B Schools of the Mid-Hudson Study Council as the area of "comparability" for negotiations. Why then, she asked, do "quality" teachers in Onteora now find their district paying the lowest starting salary of the 19 schools in that Class B area?

Referring to the impasse declared by the board in April, she pointed out that, at that time, 11 of the proposed articles had not even been introduced on the negotiating table, and no economic matters at all had been negotiated.

The subsequent appointment of a mediator by the N.Y. State Public Employment Relations Board (PERB) failed to resolve the impasse.

Suggesting that OTA had made every effort to cooperate (accepting the total fact finder's report — even though it was dissatisfied with that report), she pointed out that the Board of Education did not accept the total report.

She questioned why the board and administration refused to accept the report since the proposed salary increase of the fact-finder still left OCS teachers below the median in Class B schools.

Miss Birmingham said teachers were particularly irate

OCS Teachers Give Their Side

that the legislative hearing in mid-May by the board was closed to teachers and the public. "Only the issue at dispute in the fact finder's report could be discussed," she noted; argued that "since we had accepted the total report, there was nothing we could dispute." Since the much denounced legislative hearing, OTA has made other attempts to cooperate, said the group's president. Teachers again asked PERB to intercede. Again the agency failed and its lack of success was based on Superintendent of Schools Dr. Frank M. Marlow's declaration that there would be "no further negotiations," she suggested. Arguing that the board had then handed down "a one-sided decision," she charged it was based on four items arrived at "unilaterally" by the board. Onteora teachers stand ready to resume negotiations, said Miss Birmingham. Some 151 of its 179 members voted for and signed a resolution on June 10 that they will accept only a bilateral collectively negotiated agreement. Advising all board members that OTA wants to go back to the table and will not accept a unilateral agreement, she said PERB has again been asked to mediate and that, last Friday, OTA salary notices had been returned with the notation that no agreement had been reached on the terms — and asking again for bilateral agreement. "We feel we must now take our appeal to the public," said the OTA president, "and are asking parents to support a return to the table and to urge the board to direct its negotiating team to return." Wave upon wave of applause from teachers present followed her final words: "We are not willing to accept such treatment from the board and the superintendent, and we ask for our rights under the law to reach an amicable solution to the problems confronting us."

Court Tightens Restrictions

Wiretap Future in Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court in a tough 5-4 decision by Justice Potter Stewart has tightened restrictions on searches, indicating perhaps a difficult time for the Nixon administration's wiretap policies.

A government appeal seeking the unrestrained right to wiretap persons it sees as domestic subversives was granted review Monday shortly before Stewart's ruling cut down the murder conviction of a New Hampshire man.

The Fourth Amendment and its guarantee against unreasonable searches and seizures is central to both cases.

Stewart said Edward H. Coolidge Jr. was entitled to a new trial in the slaying of 14-year-old Pamela Mason of Manchester principally because police had not obtained a warrant from a neutral magistrate to vacuum the suspect's car for evidence.

The decision, which drew heated dissents from Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Hugo L. Black and Byron R. White, noted that searches "without prior approval by judge or magistrate, are per se unreasonable under the Fourth Amendment—subject only to a few specifically established and well-delineated exceptions."

The government's wiretap operations are based on the idea that there is an exemption to this rule for national security cases.

This position is associated most with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who declared two weeks ago that "never in our history has this country been confronted with so many revolutionary elements determined to destroy by force the government and the society it stands for."

Stewart, in announcing reversal of Coolidge's conviction and life sentence, said the burden is on those seeking an exemption from the warrant requirement to show the situation was imperative.

"In times of unrest," he went on, "Whether caused by crime or racial conflict or fear of internal subversion, this basic law (the Fourth Amendment) and the values that it represents may appear unrealistic or extravagant to some. But the values were those of the authors of our fundamental constitutional concepts.

"In times not altogether unlike our own they won—by legal and constitutional means in England, and by revolution on this continent—a right of personal security against arbitrary intrusions by official power."

"If times have changed, reducing every man's scope to do as he pleases in an urban and industrial world, the changes have made the values served by the Fourth Amendment more, not less, important."

The hint to Mitchell and the government seems to be that to win the wiretap case they will have to persuade the Court they are entitled to an exemption.

Russian Defector — And Some Questions

LONDON (AP) — Some British security authorities said today that Soviet defector Anatoly Fedoseyev is a comparatively unimportant electronics engineer and not the key space scientist he was reported to be.

Other sources said Fedoseyev was an important Soviet official, but the British government wanted to play down his defection to minimize its effect on relations between the major Western nations and the Soviet Union.

"Just What Goes On?" asked the Daily Express in a banner headline.

Fedoseyev defected May 27 during the Paris Air Show, where he was deputy chief of the Soviet delegation. The British government announced Sunday that he had been given permission to stay in Britain, and there were reports that he was the brains behind the Soyuz space station program and the robot moon exploration program.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail N. Smirnovsky demanded Monday night that the Foreign Office allow a member of his staff to interview Fedoseyev. This appeared to indicate that the man was more than a minor official.

The Foreign Office said it would relay the demand to Fedoseyev. But Undersecretary Sir Denis Greenhill told Smirnovsky that Fedoseyev was free to contact the embassy anytime he wanted to.

The government had the 52-year-old defector under guard somewhere in the London area and was reported still questioning him.

The Guardian newspaper said intelligence sources told it "the man was proving of positive value" and the interrogation "is far from complete."

"It was understood that unofficial approaches have been made for permission for American specialists and agents to meet him," The Guardian said.

Organizers of a scientific symposium at Cambridge University said they had no idea whether Fedoseyev's defection had caused the cancellation of an appearance by four Hungarian nuclear scientists at the symposium this week.

Official Enactment

Record Budget for N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — The City Council and the Board of Estimate are expected to enact today a record $8.7 billion budget after trimming about $50 million in expenses and $127 million in new taxes from the budget proposed by Mayor John V. Lindsay.

The mayor reportedly agreed Monday to accept the compromise reached in private negotiations by the two legislative bodies, which had pressed him to raise his revenue estimates in order to cut even more from both his budget and his proposed $525 million tax package.

The reported compromise would raise revenue estimates by $77 million, making only $50 million in expense cuts necessary to eliminate $127 million in taxes—mostly so-called nuisance taxes.

The mayor first sought a $9.13 billion budget with an $896 million tax package, but the legislature approved only $525 million in new levies. Lindsay then revised his budget request to $8.75 billion, partially by raising revenue estimates.

The council and the board, by law, must enact a budget by midnight tonight, allowing time for Lindsay to veto items and for override attempts to be made before the budget becomes official July 1.

Last year, the council and the board reduced the mayor's budget by $82 million. The previous year, they "found" $79 million, which they added to the mayor's budget to balance it.

Council leaders had sought to reduce the mayor's budget by $125 million but made a key concession over the weekend when they restored, at Lindsay's urging, $63 million earmarked for collective bargaining with municipal unions.

New taxes expected to be approved include increases in the city income tax, the general corporation and financial corporation levies and an extension of the unincorporated business tax to such professionals as physicians, dentists and lawyers. Among those taxes reportedly due to be voted down are levies on liquor, beer, leaded gasoline, cigarettes with high nicotine content, commercial vehicles, city mortgages, bank vaults, and parking lots, as well as the proposed $15 auto use tax and an increase in the Staten Island ferry fare from 5 to 25 cents.

$2,400 Family Pay Nears Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, which already has shown itself closely divided on welfare reform, moved today toward a decisive vote on a $2,400-a-year family income floor.

Supporters of the legislation, backed both by President Nixon and Democratic leaders, turned back the first challenge to the welfare plan Monday on a 200-172 procedural vote.

The margin was considered narrow because the House usually approves almost routinely its Rules Committee's recommendations on how to handle bills.

The effect of Monday's vote was to bar substitutes for amendments to the bill, at the

Saugerties Village Board To Study 2 Ordinances

SAUGERTIES Village Board will shortly be studying the possibility of adopting two ordinances—one to prohibit the carrying of open containers of alcoholic beverages on the streets, and the other to prohibit the posting of signs on utility poles and buildings, or provide that such signs be removed within a reasonable time after the advertisement function is concluded.

Drunk Driver Charges Widened Under Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Those "few drinks" at a party before driving home had better be just a "few less" under terms of a new state law.

Governor Rockefeller Monday signed without comment a series of bills dealing with traffic laws, including one that lowers from .15 to .12 per cent the amount of alcohol in the blood necessary for drunk driving charges.

In other bill actions, the governor vetoed measures that would have:

- Permitted possession of antique pistols without a license;
- Required the state university to withhold final wages due a departing employee and deduct money owed the university from the employee's final paycheck;
- Given police and firemen more time to determine if they want to join 20-year, half-pay retirement plans.

— Increased the amount retired public employees could earn before their pensions were reduced.

The changes in the traffic laws approved by Rockefeller, in addition the new level of alcohol in the blood necessary to presume driving while intoxicated, also sets the presence of .05 to .08 per cent of alcohol in the blood as evidence of impairment, instead of the present .10 per cent.

Speeding Charged to 9 Motorists

KINGSTON Nine motorists charged with speeding violations in the city appeared Monday before City Judge Hubert A. Richter and pleaded guilty before paying fines.

Fined $15 were Eileen P. Barton, 25, of Port Ewen. Angeline Chiappa, 27, of 60 Clinton Avenue. Thomas R. Joy, 41, of 62 East Chester Street.

Fines of $10 were paid by William Berlin, 69, of 15 Clifton Avenue. Frank J. Keach, 32, of Box 406, Kingston. Thomas E. Kiernan, 26, of 13 South Road. High Falls. Elaine Kugler, 38, of Byrdcliff Road, Woodstock.

Second Arrest In Connection With Fight

ELLEENVILLE A second arrest has been made in connection with the melee that occurred last Thursday at the Shamrock Hotel and Restaurant that resulted in serious injuries to the proprietor and his son.

Officer John Corwin said Frederick Bryant, 18, of 80 Street, Monticello, was arrested by police in that city on a warrant issued by Police Justice Ronald W. Elias charging the youth with second degree assault. The complainant was Salvatore Graffeo, owner of the hotel, who allegedly was beaten during the incident.

Previously arrested on complaint of Graffeo's son, John, a bartender at the restaurant, was Robert Stubbs, 18, of Monticello, who also was held for second degree assault.

Both defendants were scheduled to appear tonight before Judge Elias. Police are continuing investigation of the case.

Board meeting, was directed to contact other municipalities having similar ordinances and also the Mayors Conference for copies of similar ordinances for review by the Village Board.

The village clerk reported he had received requests that the board consider adoption of such enactments.

The board awarded a contract to Davenport Implement Co., High Falls for the purchase of a 10-horsepower lawnmower. Davenport was the low bidder with $893. The only other bidder, F. P. Clum Inc., Saugerties submitted a bid of $999.

Mayor Cornelius M. Cox read a letter received from the Rev. William Baudendistel, a member of the Town of Saugerties Planning Board, in which he invited members of the Village Board to accompany a group to visit the City of Cohoes, a model city, on Wednesday, Sept. 15 to view the progress of improvement and beautification under the model city program.

The group will consist of members of the community, Town Planning Board and Saugerties Business Associates.

Police Commissioner Walter Keefe announced that the new radar system which has been under test in the village will be operational the first week in July. All patrolmen have received instructions and are now qualified to operate the radar system.

Parks Commissioner Gregory Mulstay announced that the village playgrounds will be open Monday, June 28, but will be closed for the holiday, Monday, July 5.

On a request of a group of Myer Lane residents, police are investigating the report of loud playing of music in that neighborhood.

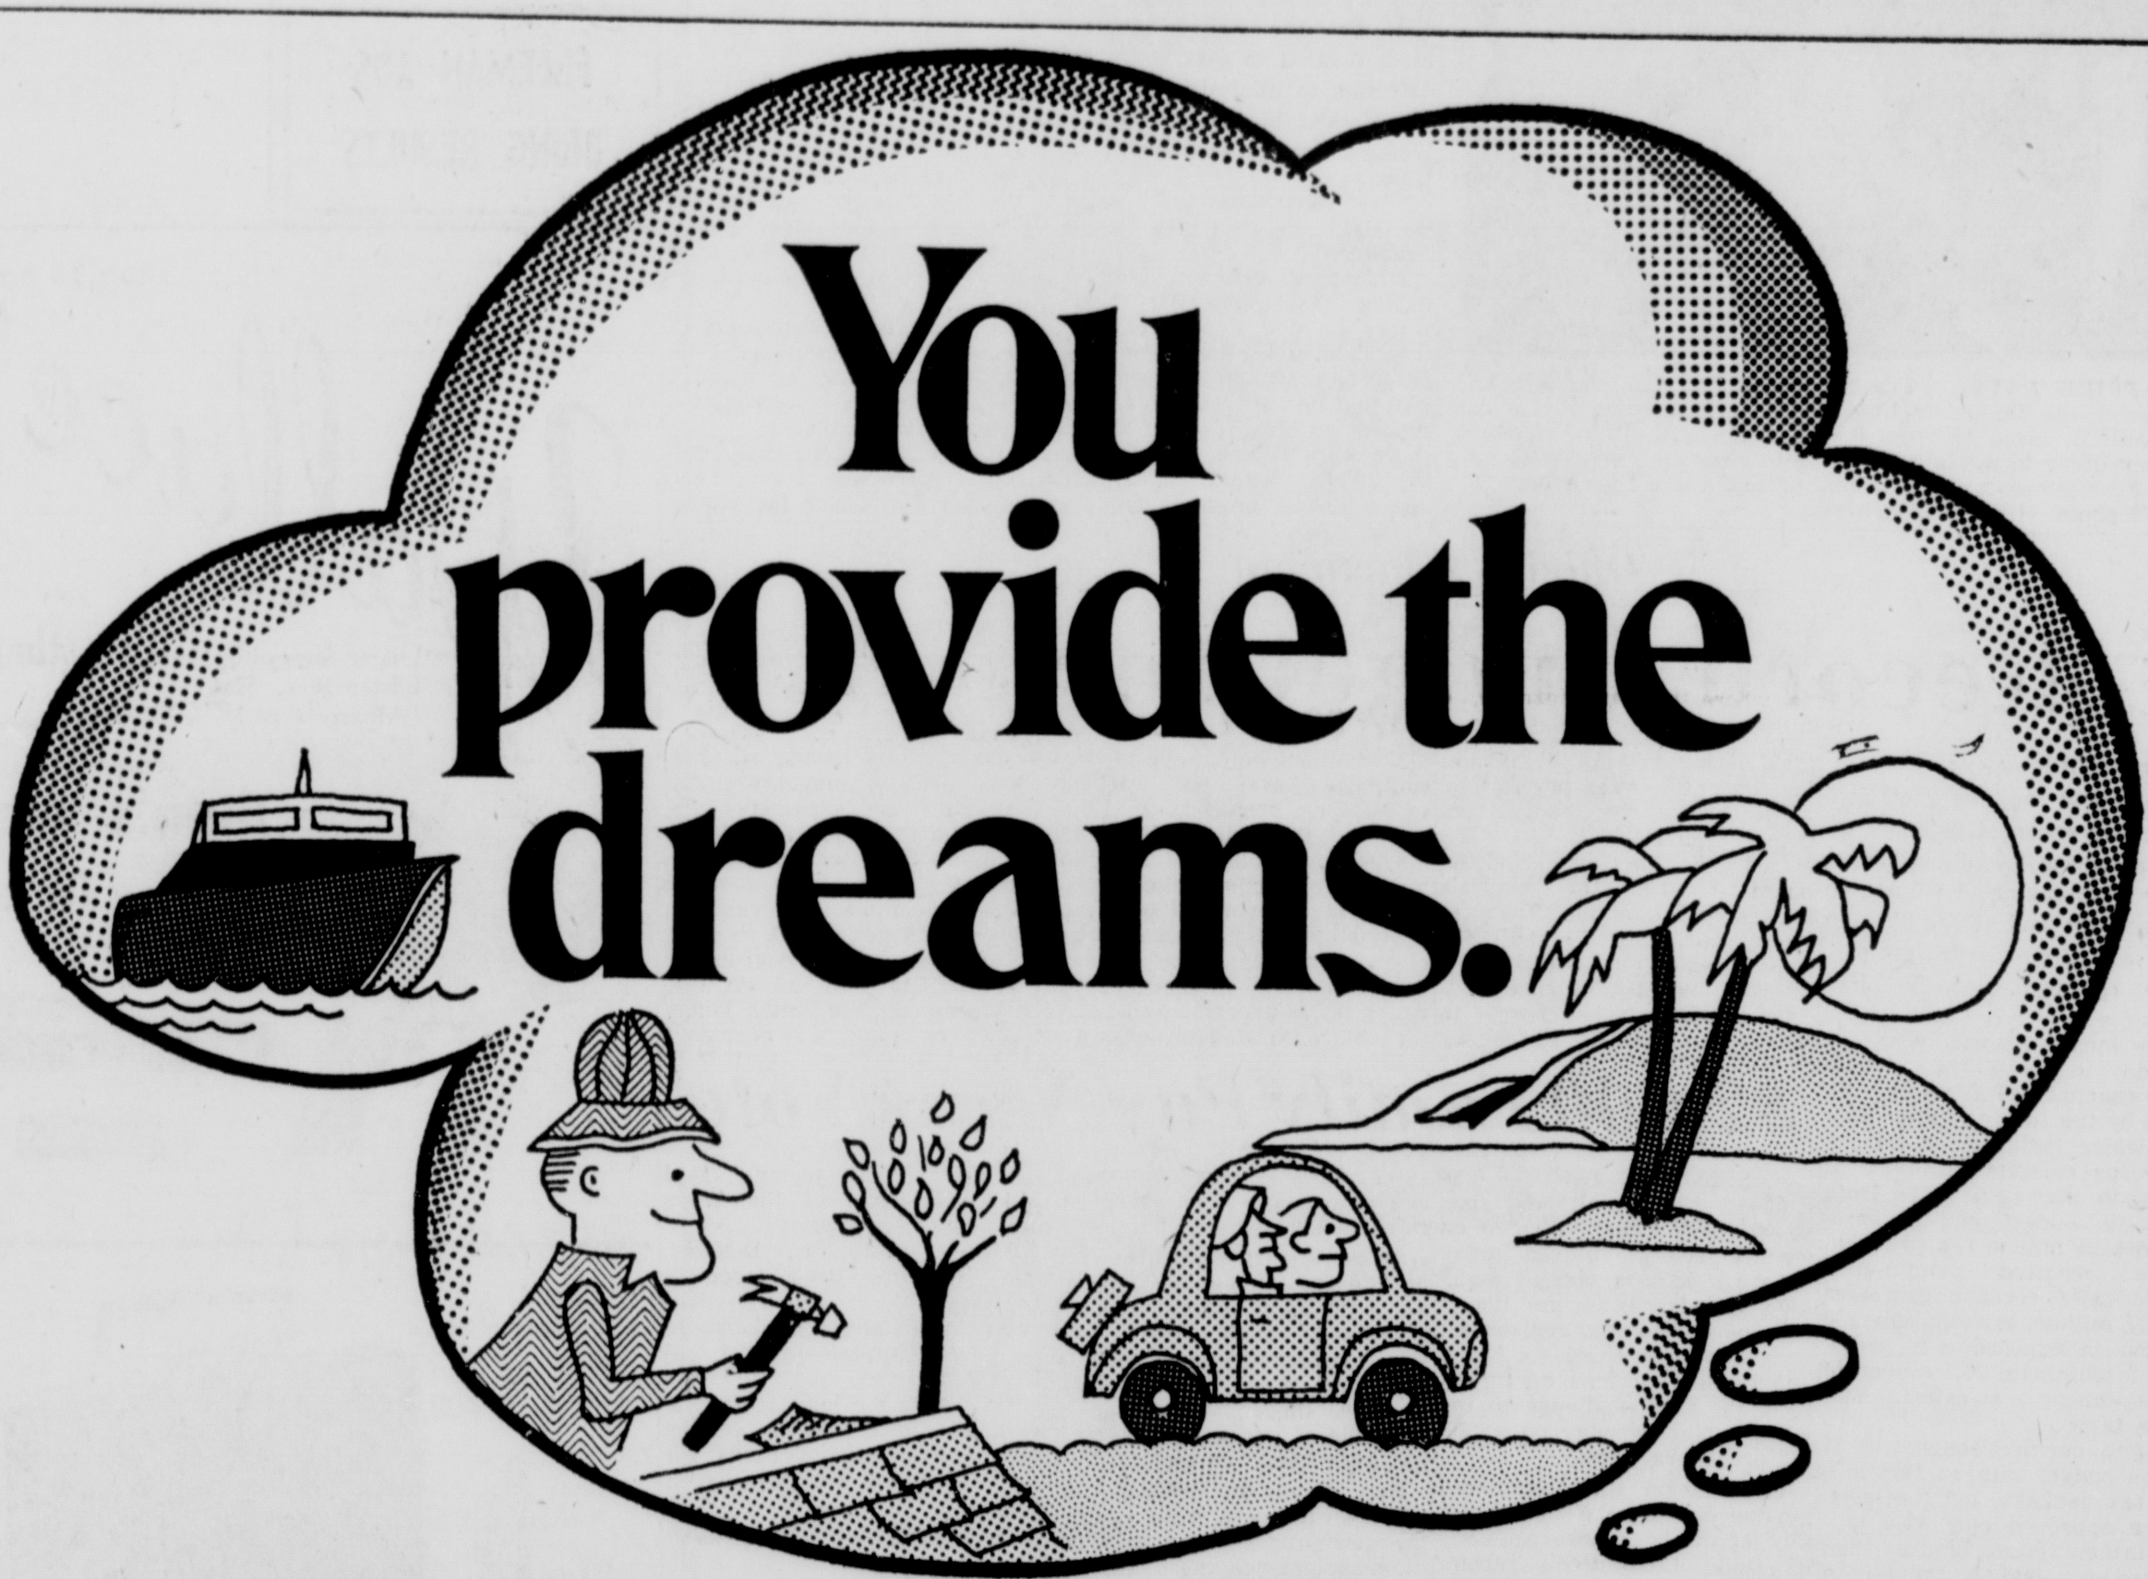

YOUTH PARTICIPATION — Certificates of merit were awarded to four youth groups in the county for their outstanding efforts in this year's Cancer Crusade. Accepting the awards presented at the recent annual luncheon meeting of Ulster County Unit, American Cancer Society are (L-R) John Ford, adviser of the Varsity Club of New Paltz Central High School; Mrs. Madeline Labiola, adviser of the Honor Society and Students of Highland High School; Mary Ellen Bruck, president of Future Business Leaders of Kingston High School, and N. Rhinbeck OKs Bus Contract, To Study School-Owned Fleet

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK
The Rhinebeck Board of Education Monday night approved a $140,000 a year transportation contract for three years while President Hans Boehm promised a close study of the possibility beginning a school-owned bus fleet.

The district has been contracting with Golden Arrow Bus Lines, Inc. and signed the three-year contract with the same company, the only bidder. The three-year authorization was given by voters last week as an amendment to the 1971-72 budget.

The suggestion of going to a school-owned fleet was brought up several times at recent school board meetings, and the board has apparently begun to

Memorial

In loving memory of my husband, Joseph Perry, who passed away one year ago today, June 22, 1970.

I have lost my soul's companion, A life linked with my own. And day by day, I miss him more.

As I walk through life alone, A happy home we once enjoyed, How sweet the memory still, But death has left a loneliness. The world can never fill. The midnight stars are shining, On a lonely and silent grave, Beneath where sleeps the one I love.

And who I couldn't save, I think of him in silence, And often repeat his name, But all that is left to another Is a picture in a frame. Oh God, please take this message, To my loved one up above, Tell him how much I miss him, And give him all my love. LOVING WIFE, MARY DAUGHTER, MARILYN SON-IN-LAW, LOU GRANDCHILDREN, MARY JO and STEPHANIE think seriously about the recommendation.

District Principal Ralph Steeves, in recommending that a three-year as opposed to one-year contract be signed, noted that there would be no way to implement the school-owned transportation within two years. He also asked that the suggestion be studied, however.

The gross per annum figure was listed as $163,488.40, but with the school supplying gasoline, allowing existing safe buses to be used, and combining two routes, the per annum figure was pared to the final $140,962.62.

But an "adjustment" upward of $14,493.48 was added for the coming fiscal year because of necessary additions in routes and buses.

Mrs. Elinor Letsche, who will take a seat on the board in July, asked whether running a late bus had been studied. She was answered by Steeves that there had been no late buses for the five years he had been in the system, and the one run six years ago apparently was found not to be worthwhile.

$3,740 Grant To Saugerties Sewerage Plant

SAUGERTIES
A $3,740 state Pure Waters Program grant for Saugerties Village sewerage treatment plant was among 16 grants in 12 counties totaling $192,100 for the operation and maintenance of approved water pollution control facilities, announced by Gov. Nelson Am Rockefeller today.

Pure Waters Program grants are provided under the direction of the Department of Environmental Conservation. The Saugerties Village grants are as follows: Dock Street facility, $3,320; East Bridge Road, $182 and Ripley Road, $238. The state makes annual grants on a municipal fiscal year basis of one-third the direct cost of operating and maintaining municipal waste water treatment plants that conform to state standards. This part of the Pure Waters Program is designed to give municipalities to maintain high standards of waste treatment.

11th Ward Dems To Caucus Friday

KINGSTON
Eleventh Ward Democrats will caucus Friday at 8 p.m. at the Cornell Fire Station, according to announcement made by Frank C. Sass, chairman.

It is expected that incumbent Alderman Edward Norton, majority leader of the Common Council and William "Pucker" Davis, incumbent county legislator, will attend and seek the unanimous support of the 11th Ward Democratic Party. The caucus will remain open for one hour, Sass said.

Delegates from each election district will be selected to attend the unofficial Democratic County Convention July 10 at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium. County and city committeemen will also be nominated.

Present committeemen include Daniel Smith and Sass, Second District; Rose Hogan and Davis, First District. Sass encourages all enrolled Democrats "to attend and participate in this basic democratic function of our free society."

In Other Car

It was incorrectly reported in Saturday's Freeman that seven-year-old Elizabeth Albright and her mother, Evelyn Albright, 41, of 95 Hunter Street were passengers in an auto operated by Douglas Perry, involved in a collision with a car driven by Russell A. Williams at the intersection of Tremper Avenue and Elmendorf Street Friday night. They were passengers in the Williams vehicle.

Libby Holman Dies, Famed Torch Singer

STAMFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Libby Holman, torch singer of 1920s and 1930s famed for her renditions of such songs as "Body and Soul" and "Moanin' Low," died at her home here last Friday. Her death at the age of 65 was announced Monday.

A private funeral service was held, but a memorial service is planned in New York, a family spokesman said.

Tragedy repeatedly crossed Miss Holman's life. In 1932 her husband, Zachary Smith Reynolds, a North Carolina tobacco heir, was found shot to death after a party at their home in Winston-Salem. Miss Holman was charged with murder, but the charges were later dropped. Her second husband, actor Ralph Holmes, committed suicide in 1945. In 1950 her son, Christopher Reynolds, fell to his death while climbing Mt. Whitney in California.

Born Elizabeth Holman in Cincinnati, Miss Holman made her Broadway debut in "Gar- rick Gaieties" in 1926. She first impressed the public singing "Moanin' Low" and "Can't We Be Friends" in a review called

"The Little Show" in 1929. One of her biggest stage hits was in "Three's A Crowd" in 1931. Co-starring with Fred Allen and Clifton Webb, she sang "Something to Remember You By" and "Body and Soul." In one revue Miss Holman played an interracial scene. This scene, and the blue quality in her voice, led to a rumor that she was a mulatto. She said later that this circumstance and her work with Negro artists gave her an interest in civil rights. In later years she quietly contributed large amounts of money to civil rights causes.

She was survived by her third husband, painter-sculptor Louis Schanker, and two adopted sons.

Plaque at Benedictine Honors Dunham Founder

KINGSTON A dedication service was held at that time in his memory. The plaque at Benedictine Hospital which reads, "In Loving memory of her late Husband Walter D. Dunham" has been placed at the nurse's station on the third floor of the Spellman Wing of the hospital.

Sister Mary Charles, administrator, accepted the gift on behalf of the hospital's Board of Trustees and Advisory Board members of the administration.

A memorial to the late Walter D. Dunham, founder and president of Dunham Tunnel and Excavation Corporation and Rock Construction Corporation, has been placed in Benedictine Hospital by his widow, Mrs. Marina R. Dunham, secretary and treasurer of Dunham Tunnel and Excavation Corporation.

Considered a great humanitarian and generous contributor to many organizations and charities, Dunham was interested in civic affairs and was active in a number of organizations.

Among these were The First Presbyterian Church of Kingston which he served as president of its Board of Trustees for more than 12 years, Mount Tabor Lodge F&AM and the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

Dunham was also a deputy sheriff of Ulster County, a member of the Bimini Big Game Fishing Club, United States Trotting Association and an honorary member of the Stony Clove Rod and Gun Club.

Another memorial to Dunham was made previously when on May 3 of 1970 Mrs. Dunham presented to the Jewett Presbyterian Church a Thomas Organ.

STONE RIDGE Education and authorized by the Education Professions Development Act of 1967. Our Colleges was proud to learn that Dean Bartlett was selected from among so many applicants to participate in this Institute being paid for by the federal government," said U.C.C.C. President George B. Erbstein. "We anticipate that the students of the college as well as Dean Bartlett will profit from this experience."

The Institute is concentrating on the organization of student personnel programs in junior or community colleges. Also being emphasized is the out-reach function of the junior or community college to the greater community and the need to increase educational opportunity within the local environment.

Bartlett currently is working toward his doctorate degree at Cornell University in the area of Student Personnel and is writing his thesis on Student Personnel Regulations of the two-year colleges in New York State.

He obtained his B.S. Degree from Kent State University in Kent State. His M.A. thesis, Ohio where he majored in English and Education, and of culturally deprived children's earned his M.A. Degree from Kent State.

Dr. Erbstein Praises Vogt's Appointment

STONE RIDGE Council. The College is appreciative of his willingness to assist us as we constantly strive to strengthen our present program."

The primary purpose of the Council is to make available to the College, and to the teaching faculty in particular, the valuable advice and assistance that representatives from the community can offer.

The Council members advise the College concerning the scope and depth of curricula for the Police Science and Correction Administration programs in relation to the needs of the local community. They also interpret the curriculum to the public, provide instructional materials and experiences that will make the educational processes more meaningful, and advise concerning courses for the continuing education of persons employed in the occupational areas.

Other members of the Council include: Maurice Blow, Warden, Catskill Reformatory, James H. Fisher, Assistant District Attorney, Ulster County, Gordon Keeley, Police Chief, Saugerties Police Department, Robert Kuhlmann, Assistant Director, Woodbourne Narcotics Rehabilitation Center, William B. Martin, Ulster County Sheriff, Raymond J. Mino, Ulster County Judge, Major Raymond M. You'll Find a New Kind of Bank in the Hudson Valley

We're a bank you and your parents and even your grandparents have known well. For we have deep roots in this community, having served it for generations.

We're a bank whose people are determined to serve our customers and communities more personally and more professionally than any other bank in town.

Our affiliation with Bankers Trust New York Corporation has made us a new kind of bank. For this state-wide bank holding company is backing us with strength, services and specialists that make us unique.

In strength, we're supported by more than ten billion dollars in assets.

In services, we have the benefit of the fullest range of banking facilities, locally, nationally, and even internationally.

In specialists, we can call on people whose reputations are universally respected. Loaning specialists, trust specialists, investment specialists, small-business specialists, real estate specialists, corporate specialists.

We can offer you new capabilities, new expertise, new dimensions of banking service. For all your banking needs.

In short, your old friends at State of New York National Bank can now offer you a new kind of bank. That's why we'll have a new name, as of July 1, 1971. Bankers Trust Hudson Valley, N.A. We invite you to make this new kind of bank your bank.

State of New York National Bank

as of July 1,

Bankers Trust Hudson Valley, N.A.

This new kind of bank is concerned with your future.

That's why we want you to do more than think about it. Open a savings account at State of New York National Bank.

We can offer you dozens of reasons for opening a savings account, and they all revolve around you, your family, and your tomorrows. The reasons really come down to words like love and marriage, babies, a new car, college, hope, weddings and honeymoons, confirmations and bar mitzvahs, retirement, your own home, a dream-come-true. And if some of those words aren't in your future, we'd be very surprised.

A savings plan helps make a lot of these words more than wishes, but we know it's difficult to put money aside. And that's why you should visit any office of State of New York National Bank.

We have lots of savings plans, and one might just be the one you're looking for. Our plans range from regular savings accounts to the Bankers Passbook. And interest rates range up to the highest rate allowed by law. We've even got special plans for people who can afford to leave money on deposit for up to ten years. And to make it as easy as possible, we can arrange to have a regular sum automatically deducted from your checking account.

Coleman High School in September. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Completes Spring Lecture Season

Mrs. H. Henry Staley of Rhinebeck concluded her 1971 spring lecture season at Roscoe, N.Y. last Monday. The occasion was the annual luncheon meeting of the Roscoe-Rockland Garden Club held at Campbell Inn. The program was presented in the afternoon in the theater at the Inn. Mrs. Staley designed 10 exhibits before the group, stressing creativity and abstraction. This was Mrs. Staley's third lecture before the Club.

Mrs. Staley also presented the program for the annual meeting of the Life Membership of the Federated Garden Clubs of New York State held in The Green Room at Tappan Hill, Tarrytown recently. The topic Our Hudson River Heritage, traced the river and life along its banks from its beginning at Lake Tear of the Clouds on Mt. Marcy to the Statue of Liberty in the Bay. The talk was enthusiastically received.

Mrs. Staley took part in recent flower shows at the Horticultural Society headquarters in New York City and received first, two seconds and third place awards.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Miss Joanne Mary Breuer Weds Jeffrey V. Maxwell

The Community Church of Glen Rock, N. Y., was the setting of the wedding of Miss Joanne Mary Breuer and Jeffrey Van Buren Maxwell on Saturday, June 19. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Breuer Jr. of 54 Ridge Road, Glen Rock, N.J. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Van Buren Maxwell of Roosa Lane, Hurley.

The Rev. Vernon L. Dethmers officiated at the candlelight, double ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an organza gown with pearl embroidered peau d'ange lace. The gown was fashioned with an empire waist, bishop sleeves and a chapel length train. Her matching Camelot cap held shoulder and train length veils and she carried a cascade of white phalaenopsis orchids.

Miss Nancy Breuer of Great Barrington, Mass., sister of the bride, was maid of honor in a moss green peau d'oise

A-line gown. She carried a cascade of gerberas and yellow roses and wore matching flowers in her hair.

The attendants, similarly attired in moss green, were Miss JoAnn Maxwell, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Lynn duRosse of Glen Rock, N. J.; Miss Linda Billows of Garden City; and Miss Muriel Fierberg of West Hartford, Conn. All the bridesmaids' gowns were created by Miss JoAnn Maxwell.

Daniel Bushnell of Hurley was best man. Serving as ushers were David Breuer of Glen Rock, brother of the bride; Alan Rickard of Schenectady; Peter Roberts of Potsdam and Thomas Hamilton of Walpole, Mass.

Mrs. Maxwell is a graduate of Glen Rock High School and Russell Sage College.

Her husband was graduated from Kingston High School and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. He is serving with the U.S. Army and is stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington.

Following a wedding trip to Cape Cod, the couple will live at Tacoma, Washington.

Ennis-DiAngelo Nuptials Are Announced

The Rev. James J. LeBar, associate pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, officiated at the double ring ceremony of Miss Susan Ann Ennis, 86 Roosevelt Avenue, Kingston, and Michael Franz Di Angelo, 1d Post Road, Wappingers Falls, on Sunday, June 13 at 1:30 p.m. at St. Joseph's Church, Kingston. James Sweeney, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. Gold vases filled with lavender and white gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the altar. White satin bows marked the family pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Ennis, 86 Roosevelt Avenue, Kingston and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Herta Kelly, 178 Wilbur Boulevard, Poughkeepsie and the late Leonard Di Angelo.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a floor length white cotton gown in the empire styling. Bands of self-fabric and lace ruffles accented the scooped neckline, sleeves and waist. Mrs. Di Angelo wore a coronet of daisies and baby's breath, trimmed with long white streamers, and carried a colonial bouquet of daisies and baby's breath with white ribbons.

Miss Elizabeth Ennis, sister of the bride, Yonkers, served as maid of honor. Mrs. Jeanne Dolan, sister of the bride, Halcyon Park, Lake Katrine; and Miss Diane Peterson, Hyde Park, were attendants. They wore floor length empire cotton gowns fashioned with long full sleeves. The gowns featured white background with sprays of orchid and yellow flowers and bands of orchid grosgrain ribbons at the waistlines. They wore natural straw hats, trimmed with long orchid streamers, and carried colonial bouquets of purple pompons and baby's breath.

Leonard Di Angelo, Cornwall Bridge, Conn., was best man for his brother. Ushers were Bruce Close, Wappingers Falls, and George Hockman, Fishkill.

A reception for 100 guests was held at Norrie Point Inn, Staatsburg.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is a senior at State University College at New Paltz. Her husband, an alumnus of Poughkeepsie High School and a student at Dutchess Community College, is employed by IBM, Poughkeepsie. He served three years with the U.S. Army, stationed in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Di Angelo will reside at Colonial Gardens Apartments, Arlington.

UCCC Head Lauds Lions for Scholarships

President George B. Erbstein of Ulster County Community College today expressed appreciation to the Kingston Lions Club for awarding four scholarships to UCCC students from Kingston. Named to receive the scholarships were Miss Nancy Greenberg, Miss Carol Haines, Mark Stevens and Gordon Stoutenburg.

"These four scholarships for out students who will be transferring to four year colleges are very generous and the College is most grateful to the Kingston Lions Club for its continuing support," said Dr. Erbstein.

A resident of RFD 7, Kingston, Miss Greenberg graduated this June from UCCC with an Associate in Arts Degree. She is transferring to the State University college at New Paltz where she will work toward a four-year degree. Miss Greenberg, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Greenburg, was active in extracurricular activities at UCCC, including the cheer-leading squad.

Miss Haines, the daughter of Claude Haines, has worked at Kingston Hospital as a registered nurse while taking courses at the community college. She is a resident of 48 Roosevelt Avenue, Kingston.

A resident of Route 28, Kingston, Stevens graduated this June from UCCC with an Associate in Arts Degree with distinction. He is transferring to the State University College at New Paltz to work for a baccalaureate degree. While attending the community college Stevens worked part-time in the Registrar's office. Stoutenburg, a resident of 20 Fairview Avenue, Kingston, was graduated from UCCC this June with an AAS Degree with distinction. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Stoutenburg, he has worked part-time at the community college in the Computer Center. Stoutenburg plans to work toward a four-year degree at the State University College at Potsdam.

Luncheon Held Recently

The summer home of Mrs. Freida Dingee in Lake Katrine provided the setting for a luncheon which brought to a close the activities of the Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma for the 1970-71 season.

Delta Kappa Gamma is an international organization of women educators whose president in this area is Mrs.

Nancy Dolfinger of New Paltz. President Dolfinger conducted the business meeting.

Miss Jane Vreeland, fund raising chairman, held a book and record sale and silent auction to provide monies for a scholarship winner, Miss Barbara Neumann, of New Paltz, who was a guest at the luncheon.

County Homemaker Service Elects

The Ulster County Homemaker Service, Inc., held its first annual meeting at the Holiday Inn on Monday, June 14. Election of officers was held and new directors were named for the coming year.

Elected to office were Mrs. John F. Crews, president; Mrs. Robert B. Murray, vice president; Mrs. John I. Spindler, secretary; and Dennis L. Pitcock, treasurer. Elected to serve on the Board of Directors were Mrs. Frank H. Reis, Mrs. David H. Rylance and Mrs. Neil N. Whitehurst, all of Kingston; Mrs. Mitzi Turkfeld of Ellenville; Kenneth Osterhoudt, Woodstock; and Mrs. James Clarke, Milton.

The outgoing president, Mrs. James C. Embree, recognized those members of the Board who are retiring and thanked them for their efforts in making the Homemaker Service a reality. Those Directors leaving office are Mrs. John S. Cross Jr.; Miss Dorothy Grigsby; Mrs. Martin F. Haggerty Jr.; Mrs. Richard B. Overbagh; and the Rev. Marcus Rogers.

Mrs. Embree reported to the Board of Directors on the progress of the Ulster County Homemaker Service since it began operations in October 1970. Two homemaker training courses have been held and a total of 11 homemakers are available for placement in homes in Ulster County where crisis has threatened to break up families and temporary help in the home is needed. Homemakers are available in Kingston, New Paltz, Ellenville, Port Ewen, Rosendale, Woodstock and Saugerties.

The service can be made available to the residents of Ulster County by contacting Mrs. John B. Plass, executive director at the Homemaker Service Office, at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue, Kingston, each weekday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

ANNUAL MEETING — Ulster County Homemaker Service, Inc., elected officers for the coming year at the organization's annual meeting. Those who will head the group for 1971-72 include (L-R) Mrs. Robert B. Murray, vice president; Mrs. John F. Crews, president; Mrs. John I. Spindler, secretary; and Dennis L. Pitcock, treasurer. "VANITY FAIR" — Mrs. Lucie Kidd (L) and Miss Gayle Jamison leaf through an August 22, 1938 issue of Life Magazine featuring Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire on the cover. Issues of Look, Vanity Fair and Saturday Evening Post of 1930's vintage are spread out on the table awaiting their perusal. The women are preparing for "Vanity Fair," the Stone Ridge Library Fair which is scheduled for Saturday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. on the grounds of the library. Mrs. Kidd is in charge of the miscellaneous items table and Miss Jamison is a member of the publicity committee. (Wagenfahr photo).

New Officers of Santa Maria

Ulster County Home Bureau Meeting

County officers for 1971-72 were elected at the annual executive meeting of Ulster County Home Bureau, associated with New York State Federation of Home Bureaus, Inc., which took place Tuesday, June 15 at Hidden Harbor Boat Club in Port Ewen.

Elected were: Mrs. Philip Rappelyea, chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Brooker, vice chairman; Mrs. Frank Bell, secretary; Mrs. Bernard Darling, treasurer; Mrs. Ronald Wunderlich, publicity; Mrs. William Dietz, scholarship; Mrs. Frank Coy, crafts.

The Port Ewen Chapter hosted a pot luck supper prior to the meeting. Among the items discussed were the state workshop crafts taken at Clifton Park which are to be taught by the participants. County packages with complete instructions were given to each Chapter. Craft lists and dates were exchanged among the chairmen of each Chapter. The District was presented an award for the second time in recognition of its not having lost any members.

Plans were made for an exhibit at Ulster County Fair August 13-15. The county will sponsor a booth featuring crafts from each Chapter. Mrs. Rappelyea reminded members that deadline for dues is November 24.

Can't Be Done Without Help

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me if it is possible for a woman to conceive while she's in the water. I mean in a pool, river or bath?

MUST KNOW

DEAR MUST: Not without a man.

DEAR ABBY: We had a letter from our son today. It was mostly full of "Who am I? . . . I am me," and all that rot. We are getting pretty fed up with his self-indulgent soul-searching, but we do want to keep in touch with him.

He says he and his girl friend (she lives in his commune) may get married soon. He also wrote that he may "have to" get a job soon as they are running out of bread, and in the meantime he would appreciate a little more help from home.

Well, that raised the temperature a few degrees around here. Two able-bodied young people should sit on the floor and ask, "Who am I?" while these two square old working parents send them money.

No, I don't think so. What do you think?

LETTER FROM SON

DEAR LETTER: Parents who subsidize kids away from home are helping those kids continue whatever it is they are doing — or not doing. No parent wants his child to starve, but the surest way to get a child to earn his own bread is to quit sending him dough.

DEAR ABBY: You recently had a letter from a woman whose boy friend told her he was not the marrying kind. Well, after she had lent him quite a large sum of money he upped and married somebody else, so she took him to court to get her money back and lost the case. You said, "A gift is just a gift."

and a loan without an IOU may as well be a gift."

Abby, an IOU doesn't mean a thing if all it states is you lent somebody a certain amount of money. To merely acknowledge a debt is NOT a promise to pay. In order for a note to hold up in court it has to state that a certain amount of money must be paid to the bearer of the note either on demand or by a certain date.

DEAR LAW STUDENT: And IOU a great big thanks for writing.

You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope. For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

War Games Interrupted, Six Green Berets 'Captured'

By WALTER S. CLARK

ROSENDALE
War games planned by six green beret attired men identified as members of a special forces unit attached to the State National Guard in White Plains were interrupted when six participants were "captured" before the event got underway.

According to Village Police Chief Walter Byers, the group had planned to participate in simulated warfare that reportedly was to include "blowing up strategic points" in the vicinity of the Lower Mountain Road woodlands here last Saturday night.

Byers said the men were equipped with weapons and explosives. He said the happening was a "harrowing experience" for him and his police officers, and he commented, "It could have developed into a tragic incident and somebody could have been hurt."

Disturbed by the whole matter, especially because local police agencies had not been notified in advance of the plans of the service uniformed group, Byers said he was filing a formal complaint with the top officials of the National Guard and the Department of the U.S. Army because of the apparent "lack of communication."

The account of the incident which occurred after 7 p.m. on Saturday as unfolded by Byers: He said he received a complaint from a resident in the Lower Mountain Road section of the village that he had seen two men assembling what appeared to be a machinegun on the railroad tracks nearby. Byers called in two of his men, Sergeant George Williams and Patrolman William Stoedter and notified Kingston State Police, Trooper G. R. Van Allen hurried to the scene.

Several people in the area were interviewed and police learned that two men had been seen leaving in a white Volkswagen, which became the object of a search.

Williams and Stoedter spotted the vehicle heading up the mountain road in the general direction of Byers' home.

The chief was alerted and he soon saw the car approaching. He ordered the driver to halt, and then he spotted five men dressed in Army fatigues uniforms in the vehicle. "I saw one of the men in front trying to hide something," Byers said.

"A man in the back seat had a .45 caliber gun in his hands," Byers pulled his service revolver as Williams and Stoedter pulled up behind the "captured" vehicle. The five men were ordered from their car and were searched as they stood "spread eagled" with their hands raised. One of the group asked Byers and his men "haven't you been notified, it's part of the game," the chief noted.

The surprised group dressed in green beret outfits, according to Byers, produced identification cards which at first were questioned by police. BCI Investigator G. A. Grunwald arrived to join the investigators. The group explained that Lt. William Gruner 3rd was in charge and he was out in the woods somewhere nearby. They also said it had been planned to simulate the blowing up of "strategic points" in the area during the exercise.

"We suddenly heard an explosion," Byers said. "One of the men remarked 'there goes the railroad.'"

The chief said police learned later that the explosion resulted when a hand grenade accidentally went off when Gruner reportedly tripped.

The lieutenant was located and questioned. He subsequently satisfied the authorities that the group was attached to the National Guard Special Forces Unit in White Plains, and things quieted down.

"The whole thing was completely uncalled for," said Byers as he insisted that village and state police should have been given advance notification of the planned "war games."

"There are a lot of people in these woods and somebody could have been hurt because of the lack of communication," the chief said. "It was a dangerous situation for a while." He noted that the six men were detained for about three hours before the "all clear" was given.

Ellenville Board Rescinds Village Summer Traffic Plan

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE
The Village of Ellenville had a summer traffic plan at the close of regular business at last week's meeting of the board of trustees. It doesn't any more.

At the audit portion of last week's meeting, Les Meyers, a Main Street merchant, persuaded the board to forgo any action on the plan they had adopted for a week until the business men on Main Street could have their say.

They had their say last night.

The plan which was adopted everybody is interested in surviving and rescinded called for left turn lanes on Main, two no left turn intersections, and no parking on Main between Canal and Center Streets. These three parts of the plan were considered, respectively, good, good, and intolerable by the Main Street merchants.

The anti-plan faction had two chief spokesmen, Meyers and Charles Borsky. Borsky argued against the plan on the basis of harm it would do to the Main Street merchants, saying, "Ev-possibility is now being researched. Ellenville may still be under a one-way street program and not know it.

The Ellenville Human Relations Commission was conceived in acrimony, the Republicans, Dowling and Clinton, maintaining that there were defects in the legal instrument setting it up, and the commission was not needed anyway, and the Democrats maintaining that it was needed.

That some things the Republicans thought were defects were strengths, and the others could be mended later. The voting went along straight party lines.

Tannenbaum added to the resolution that all members of the board would have the opportunity to submit names for declining to serve on the board.

Tivoli Village Awards Sewerage Facility Contract

TIVOLI
A contract for the Village of Tivoli's secondary sewerage facility has been awarded, according to Mayor Mortimer Appel.

He told The Freeman Monday that the low bid of $174,485 from Lasko of Poughkeepsie was about $43,000 less than the low bid received the first time the bids were advertised.

There were six bidders for the project, which has been held up for close to two years waiting for government approval and then because the first bids were considered too high.

The village will be aided at the rate of one per cent by the federal government and 59 per cent by the state, thus being responsible for 40 per cent of the total cost or about $70,000.

Appel said that a 20-year bond will probably be floated to cover this expense. The secondary sewerage plant is a state and federally mandated expense, "one in which we had no choice," he added.

The resolution has already been submitted. Appel noted that it had to be submitted by today in order to take advantage of the current union rates, which rise almost every month.

Lasko is reportedly the same sewerage contractor who did the work on the Dutchess County Airport.

Appel said the work will begin as soon as possible on the "prefab concrete building," which will be located directly below the primary plant on the White Clay Kill.

And he said that the resultant effluent should be "99 per cent pure" when the secondary plant is completed.

How to get a loan by writing a check.

Marine Midland has a great thing called Line of Credit.

We give you a separate checkbook just for Line of Credit. Whenever you need extra money, or whenever you can't pay a bill, you write a check from that checkbook. And every month you get a statement telling you how much you owe us.

It's nice to have. And easy to use. But when to use it?

The economy being what it is, we think for things you need, and small things you want. Line of Credit is a convenience. Not a license to spend.

We want you to use it. Not abuse it.

Wins Open Playoff

Lee Trevino Feels Like a Real Champion

ARDMORE, Pa. (UPI)—Lee Trevino, who often talks loud and fast and funny, was speaking quietly and in dead earnest in the wake of his three-shot victory over Jack Nicklaus for the U. S. Open golf championship, and he was saying that he thinks the win qualifies him as a "real champion."

"Walter Hagen," said Trevino, citing one of golf's immortals, "said it anyone can win one Open, but it takes a real champion to win two."

"That's why this Open championship is more important to me personally than the first one I won back in 1968," said the 31-year-old Mexican-American from El Paso, Texas, who has been competing as a tour professional only since 1967.

The rewards for shooting a two-under-par 68 that beat Nicklaus' one-over-par 71 on a hot, steamy, and rain-interrupted afternoon at the tricky Merion Golf Club were immediate and rich —

... A $30,000 first prize that moved him to the head of the class in money winnings for this year, with $165,110 against $161,213 for Nicklaus, who earned $15,000 for finishing second.

... A berth in the World Series of Golf at Akron, Ohio, Sept. 11-12, a four-man competition which also involves Nicklaus as PGA champion, Charles Coody as Masters champion, and the yet-to-be determined British Open champion.

... An invitation, quickly accepted, to team with Nicklaus as the two-man United States team in the World Cup golf matches at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., Nov. 11-14.

But those, and the rich benefits accruing to the Open champion in the form of testimonials, etc., were all a bad third in Trevino's mind to two things—that second Open title as proof of his ranking among the top golfers, and the fact that he defeated Nicklaus to win it.

"I feel especially great beating a man of Jack Nicklaus' caliber," said Trevino. "That accomplishes something more even than winning an Open."

Trevino, flashing a gay smile and exchanging rapid banter with newsmen in a post-victory news conference, was asked whether he thinks people now will think of him as a "great golfer." The grin vanished, and his voice again was quiet and serious as he replied, "I hope so."

"At least," he said, "nobody can point to a man who has won the Open championship twice and say he isn't a great shotmaker."

Trevino, who charged hard and took risks all during Sunday's final round when he came from off the pace to finish in a tie with Nicklaus at even-par 280 at the end of the regulation 72 holes, admitted that he switched his tactics in the playoff after Nicklaus had fallen two strokes behind with a bogey on the second hole and a double bogey on the third.

"I didn't take too many chances after the third hole," he said. "I want to get through the sixth hole without being in any trouble. Those are long holes, and Jack had the advantage of being the biggest hitter."

It was on the sixth hole that heavy rain and thunder and lightning forced a halt in play for 22 minutes. Trevino was asked if the delay interrupted his momentum, since he was leading by one stroke at the time.

"Heck, I didn't have any momentum going then," he laughed. "8 was one over par."

Trevino admitted he began to feel the pressure on those famous last three holes of Merion.

"When Jack missed his putt on 16, I really wanted to make my putt—and it turned out to be the worst putt I hit all day. I pushed it six inches to the right. That's when I felt the pressure. I felt it on 17, too. I just wanted to keep the ball on the green. On the 18th, I just wanted to keep the ball in bounds."

Trevino said he is looking forward to playing in the British Open next month at the Royal Birkdale course in England because "Royal Birkdale is my favorite course—I played in the Ryder Cup matches there once and I had some really great scores."

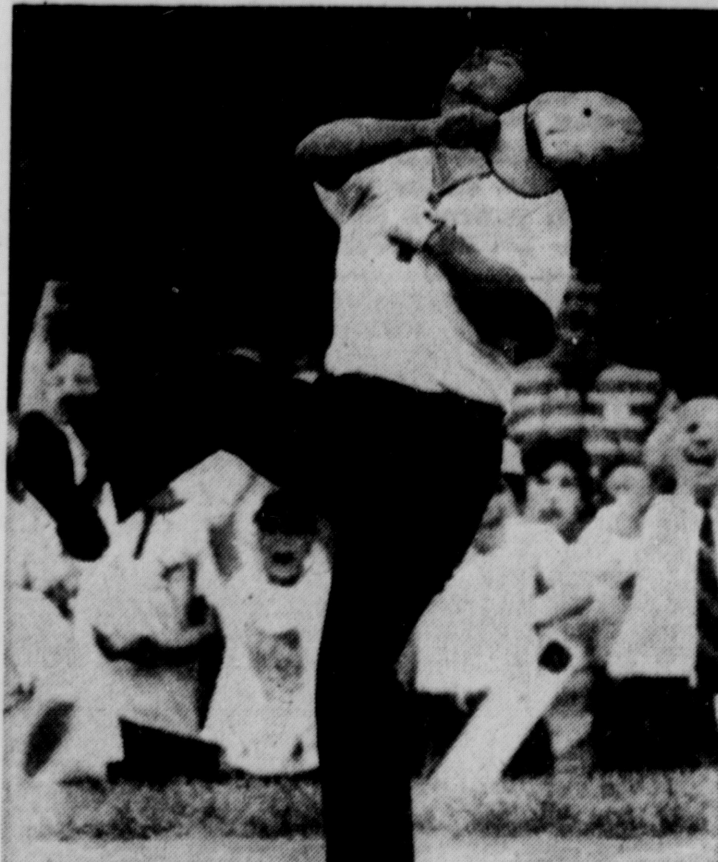

And the Open champion indicated he's changed his mind about something—he's decided to play in the Masters next year, a tournament he's been avoiding because he claims the Augusta National Course doesn't suit his game.

"I'll play in the Masters next year because I've changed my clubs to hit the ball higher—I'm using a heavier clubhead," he said. "Did I do this so I could play in the Masters?"

"Heck, no—I did it so I could win money."

Nicklaus, disappointed at failing to win the Open after putting in more practice than any other golfer, said his two fatal trap shots "were not the result of pressure, just bad execution. They were just bad shots."

"Sure, I'm let down," Nicklaus said with a grin. "When there are only two guys playing, there are only two places to finish—first and last."

NEW MEXICAN FOLK DANCE — Lee Trevino jumps for joy as his ball drops into the cup for a par on the 14th hole. Trevino won the U. S. Open playoff against Jack Nicklaus. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Sand Buried Nicklaus

ARDMORE, Pa. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus admitted Monday he felt "let down" by his defeat by Lee Trevino in the playoff for the U. S. Open Golf Championship, and said the two trap shots that led to his downfall "were just two bad shots, that's all."

Nicklaus was referring to his attempts to get out of bunkers on the second and third holes of the playoff after he had taken a one-stroke lead over Trevino on the first hole. Both times he failed to get out of the trap on his first shot—the first time for a bogey and the second time for a double bogey.

"It wasn't pressure that made me do that," Nicklaus said. "Just bad execution. I've hit some pretty good sand shots in this tournament, but those were two bad sand shots."

Nicklaus, who came to the Merion Golf Club far in advance of everyone else in the field and put in more practice than anyone getting ready for this event, said, "Of course, I feel let down not winning after putting in so much work on this tournament. I always feel let down when I don't win."

"You know," Nicklaus said with a wry grin, "when there are only two guys playing, there are only two places to finish—first and last."

Nicklaus said he thought all the practice he put in here saved him from finishing far down the list instead of second.

"My short iron play has been just plain sloppy lately," he said. "My putting has been keeping me in the game and my driving hasn't been bad, but my short irons have been sloppy."

"What saved me from a poor score was all that knowledge I had acquired about the Merion course," he said. "I guess I knew the course as well or better than any other player in the field. If I hadn't, well ..."

Nicklaus said his poor second shot on the 10th hole was a major turning point in the match. At that point he was only one stroke behind but the poor second shot, which left him six feet short of the green, set up a bogey five that dropped him two strokes behind.

However, the two-time Open champion and reigning PGA champion, paid tribute to Trevino as a "really fine player and a real shrewd thinker out there on the course."

"Lee and I are the same age—31," Nicklaus said. "But you can't really compare our golfing experience to this point. Lee has really only been playing tournament golf since 1967, and he's getting better all the time. Every year he's on the tour, he gets more mature and his experience is making him a better player all the time. On the other hand, I've been playing tournament golf of one kind or another since I was about 13 years old, and I've been playing tour competition virtually since I was about 18."

"Lee likes to play in every tournament at this stage of his career, and some people ask me, 'If Trevino can do it, why can't you?' The answer is that he probably can keep up this pace for another year or two and then he is going to have to learn to pace himself the way I have or else he is going to burn himself out."

"Lee is a deep thinker about golf, and he knows that he's going to have to pace himself eventually. He told me recently he thought he could keep playing the tour for another year or so at the present rate, but then would have to rate himself along a bit more."

Mets Still Trail Pirates

By United Press International
The New York Mets are finding out what it's like to be the trailing party in a game called follow-the-leader.

This year the leaders are in Pittsburgh—the Pirates leading the National League East by 4 1/2 games, Willie Stargell leading the majors in homers with 25 and Dock Ellis leading the league in victories at 11-3.

The combination proved to be simply too much for the second place Mets Monday night as they dropped a 6-0 decision in Pittsburgh.

In other NL games, Philadelphia defeated Cincinnati 5-3.

Los Angeles shut out St. Louis 4-0 and the Atlanta Braves beat Montreal 6-4 before dropping the second game of the doubleheader 5-3.

After beating the Mets, Ellis admitted he didn't have a thing, and New York manager Gil Hodges agreed. However, Stargell's two-run homer led the Pirates to their eighth victory in the last nine games.

Ellis sounded like he wanted the game to be closer.

"I wanted to beat them 1-0," he said. "Tom Seaver and the Mets beat me 1-0 on Donn Clendenon's homer earlier in the year in New York, and I wanted to do the same thing to the Mets tonight."

Clendenon struck out with the bases loaded to end the game.

Besides recording his shutout, Ellis tied the major league record for putouts by a pitcher with five, and Pittsburgh's Bob Robertson broke a major league record for assists by a first baseman with eight.

Atlanta won the first game of its doubleheader with four homers in the eighth inning. Hank Aaron highlighted the outburst with the 612th homer of his career, a two-run shot, and other homers were contributed by Hal King, Mike Lum and Darrell Evans as the Braves overcame a 4-1 deficit.

Vida Blue Wins 15th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Vida Blue is going for a 30-game blastoff, but he's not really counting.

The sensational Oakland left-hander won his 15th game of the season Monday night, setting down Minnesota 3-2 with a 13-strikeout performance that increased the A's American League West lead to eight games over second place Kansas City. The Royals lost 5-1 to Chicago.

Elsewhere in the AL Monday night, Baltimore ripped Washington 7-2 and Milwaukee nipped California 3-2 in 10 innings. Boston and Cleveland were rained out and the other teams were not scheduled.

Blue's workmanlike job on the Twins moved him halfway to 30 victories, a fact that doesn't impress the cool young star.

"At the end of the season," he said, "we'll see what I've got. Whatever it is, I'll be satisfied."

What Blue's got right now is a major league leading 146 strikeouts, 15 complete games in 19 starts and a 15-2 record. He allowed just seven hits against Minnesota, but only one after the fifth inning.

The Twins nicked Oakland's ace for three hits and both their runs in the third inning, giving rookie Ray Corbin a 2-1 lead. The A's tied it on Mike Epstein's double and singles by Sal Bando and Dave Duncan in the sixth and then scored the deciding run in the seventh when Minnesota catcher George Mitterwald threw wild on a delayed double steal.

The last man to win 30 games was Denny McLain in 1968 and the controversial right-hander could reach 30 again this season, but on the wrong side of the ledger.

Washington's McLain lost his eighth straight and 13th in 17 decisions as Baltimore belted him for 16 hits and whacked the Senators.

Hawk Switches Sports: Baseball-to-Golf

BOSTON (UPI)—Ken Harrelson, the flamboyant and controversial "Hawk" through most of his baseball life, ended the baseball phase of his career in a dressing room Monday night and immediately turned his attention to golf.

The 30-year-old Cleveland Indian first baseman had hoped to make his final major league appearance at Fenway Park where he helped the Red Sox win the American League pennant in 1967.

But Harrelson's hope of batting leadoff Monday night in his final plate appearance were denied by Cleveland manager Alvin Dark.

And "The Hawk's" hope of appearing as a pinch hitter also was denied when the game was rained out in the third inning.

"I quit," Harrelson said when he was asked if his plans were changed. "That's it," the veteran infielder-outfielder said. "I start my golf practice tomorrow."

The Indians made Harrelson's retirement official by immediately activating pitcher Steve Hargan to fill the roster vacancy and naming him as one of the starting pitchers in Tuesday night's two-night doubleheader.

Harrelson, meanwhile, headed for what he hopes will be a new career in professional golf.

"The Hawk," baseball's first two-time "bonus baby" when he earned his release from Charles Finley during a public dispute in 1967, got an early start on his golfing campaign when he played 18 holes on Monday.

Ken, who will be tutored by pro Bob Toski, said he planned to "work, work, work" in trying to make the pro tour grade.

No Hill Duel This Time: Braves 21, Geminis 3

KINGSTON, N.Y. — That statistic was an important one to the Braves, who have been hitting well but whose pitching has over-shadowed everything else. The real good hurling wasn't necessary against Valley Central, a weak sister in the Hudson Valley Rookie League, and what they did get from Ed

Mercer and Pete Watzka was up the three Gemini runs on the last five innings to earn the homer by opposing chucker win. Mercer was forced to depart Chris Hornbeck. That gave "Pete did a real good job," after two innings when he was Valley Central a 3-2 lead, but commented Schaeffer. "We had hit on his throwing hand by a Kingston scored six in the big lead and all he did was pitched ball. X-rays proved bottom of the second, added two throw nice and easy." negative but the injury may in the third, and poured it on A single by Bill Brady and force the former Ontario High with ten in the fourth to make Tom Gallo's double set up the first pair of Kingston runs. School star to miss his next turn the game a rout. Watzka, meanwhile, shutout Walks and passed balls brought in the rotation. Before he left, Mercer gave Valley Central on two hits over them home.

In the second, after Mercer's doubt in the minds of the triple. Geanuleas' single scored was hit so was Brady and the handful of spectators as to the Ackert and ended the barrage. "I was really glad that I could give some of the younger kids a chance to play," said Schaeffer. "It was the first time I'd seen Hastings catch and he looked good. Ackert hit the ball well as did Donnie." "Of course the veterans were strong," he added. "Gallo continues to pound the ball and Boice, had some good line shots." The Braves are home again on Wednesday night against Cornwall and Friday versus Warwick. Gallo and Ray Zap-unloaded for a base clearing pounce will pitch for Kingston.

It's Ladies Day at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England, played its own circuit in the U.S. earlier this year and drew reasonable crowds, so they are confident

The first day of the 85th Wimbledon Tennis championship Monday drew a crowd of just about 21,000 fans, some 8,000 down from a normal opening day. If the girls, on the traditional "Ladies Day," can top that figure, they'll have a strong bargaining point with promoters.

Two weeks of nonstop rain probably kept a few fans away Monday with the program going through uninterrupted under threatening skies.

The "Women's Lib" movement, headed by three-time champion Billie Jean King of winning—they have three victories each—and are looking for a new heroine to identify themselves with.

Miss Goolagong, who likes mod clothes and pop, is just the person. She has a bubbling personality and is unspooled by circuit life. She actually seems to enjoy herself on court and this earns her the crowd's approval.

Miss Goolagong takes on Gail Hanes of Palo Alto, Calif., in her opening match.

Other matches involving seeded players are: Mrs. Court from Seattle, Wash., won in Australia; Helga Masthof of Germany against France's Gail Chantreau; Miss Wade against Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif.; Nancy Gunter of San Angelo, Tex., against Lita Liem of Indonesia; Francoise Durr of France against Miroslava Holubova of Czechoslovakia, and Mrs. King against Australia's Wendy Gilchrist.

The only surprise of the first day was Tom Gorman's upset of eighth-seeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa repeat of last year when the American, from Seattle, Wash., won in straight sets.

Downs Ace Club

ELLENVILLE, N.Y. — Tony Zovistoski's third inning home run broke a tie and B & H Marine Room went on to top Ace Transmission, 9-2, in the Ellenville Softball League.

The home run by Zovistoski came off of starting pitcher Frank Allen and helped Bob Lasher of Kingston get the win.

It was the third win of the season for B & H and put them one game behind league leading Budd-Davos, which is 4-1.

Bill Fisher homered for Ace, now 2-3. The Transmission squad scored solo runs in the first and second to take a 2-0 lead, but the winners tied it in the bottom of the second and then pulled away in the third.

In other action, nine walks and five wild pitches by Smith Bros. Wilches Charlie Page and Dick Pepper contributed to a 6-4 defeat at the hands of Budd-Davos.

Page worked the first two innings and left trailing 2-0. But Smith Bros. tied the score in the fourth to take page off the

Goshen Boy Is Apparent Water Victim

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP) — An 8-year-old Goshen boy was the victim of an apparent drowning Monday night. His body was found in a neighbor's swimming pool.

State Police said the boy, Jeffery Finnegan, was clad only in his underwear and was found in 7 1/2 feet of water.

Troopers said his mother, Mrs. Catherine Finnegan reported him missing at about 11 p.m. He had apparently gone for a swim alone, they said.

Your Horoscope

Wednesday, June 23

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

After a slow start you are able to reduce your aims and ambitions to a successful plan under which you can operate in the future and have more of this world's goods. You are inclined to be too emotional but if you develop an objective attitude, you can make this a worthwhile day, p.m.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Once your day's obligations are taken care of, sit down with kin and plan a happier and more harmonious future. Diplomacy is necessary. You have to be more particular and practical.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Doing whatever stamps you as a good citizen is important in a.m. Then you can plan an outstanding social evening with good friends. Both old and new acquaintances can be of great assistance now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You get excellent ideas from good friends that should be followed if you want to make your life more successful and as you like it. You want to make changes and this is just the right day for that. Don't argue with fate tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you handle your responsibilities quickly and efficiently, you will have enough time free for other interests. Being more open-minded brings cooperation from others. Keep that important appointment tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make plans for the future, but don't put anything into operation until you have slept over it in p.m. The morning brings perfect answer. Follow through with that idea to prove devotion to mate.

Quick Quiz

Q—What tropical herb is said to bring good fortune to those who eat the seeds?

A—The sesame, an herb originally grown in China, India and Japan.

Q—What is the largest jigsaw puzzle ever made?

A—It is believed to be one of 10,400 pieces, measuring 15-by-10 feet, made in 1954, in England at a special request of a man from Texas.

Q—What was the biggest land empire in history?

A—The Mongol Empire. In 1294, it stretched from the Pacific Ocean westward to the Danube River.

Q—At what temperature does mercury solidify?

A—Mercury will not solidify until frozen to minus 38 degrees Fahrenheit.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)

Know how you stand with others and then do something to further their aims as well as your own. If you are charming, you can get people to agree. Think logically.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

Do whatever is necessary to improve the appearance of your home, office, as well as your own personal appearance, and these improvements will pay big dividends later. Health needs toning up, too. Don't permit another person to make you do what you do not want to do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) It would be well to take a little time out for pleasure since you are working mostly at high tension. You have fine creative ideas that can be made workable. Try not to annoy others in any way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) There are situations at home that require more harmony and straightening out, so get at that early. Make sure you do some entertaining at home later. This will bring good results soon.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try different angles to increase your productivity. Re-examine statements, reports, papers of all kinds and see that your views to others, since they could be invaluable to them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make sure you know your facts well before you handle some important matter and so add to material security. Your subconscious holds the key to questions you may have. Arrive on time for some appointment.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are particularly charming and dynamic now and can get into the social, group activities that are pleasing and bring results. Add to present circle of friends. Show others that you like them.

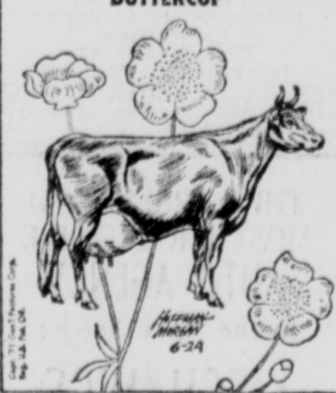

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . .

he or she will be one of those delightful young people who understands business as well as whatever is of a cultural nature, so for this reason can tackle almost anything and make a real success of it. Show a little wise authority while young so that your progeny will learn to respect authority and have regard for persons who have been or are successful. Give the finest religious and educational training possible. Add foreign languages to the curriculum.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for July is now ready. WHY WE SAY

BUTTERCUP

FOOD: This little yellow flower was so named because it was thought that cows eating it would produce yellow butter. The idea got started because the flower grows in good pastures where the cows naturally produce better butter, even without the flower.

Jean Adams'

TEEN FORUM

FIRST KISS: (Q.) I read in a magazine that when you first kiss a boy you shouldn't kiss him violently. Well, what if he kisses you violently? You know what I mean, real hard. If you print this, please don't print my name.—Overwhelmed in Arlington, Va.

(A.) If a girl keeps her cool, especially on a first date, the boy will almost invariably keep his. Ask yourself if you didn't have some part in the violence of the kiss.

I do not use boys' or girls' real names in printed questions and answers. Once in a great while I use first names to simplify a question or answer. The names are different from those in the letter itself.

SHORT ROMANCE: (Q.) This guy took me out one time. He asked me to go out again and I said yes. But I told him he would have to meet my mom and dad. He said that was OK. But he stood me up.

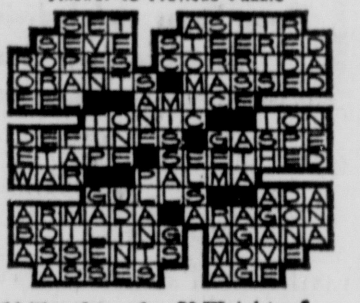

Last week I called him. He said he was going steady with another girl. He said if anything happened he would call me or come by. Do you think he will come back? I don't want to give him up.—Disappointed in Dearborn Heights, Mich.

(A.) I don't think you ever had to give up. He does not appear to be nearly so interested in you as you are in him. I would suggest finding another boy you like.

Bob Barker—Top Security

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Barker, who plays ornate practical jokes almost every day for a living, can depend on landing in the Nielsen top 10 list twice a year. Few, if any other, game show hosts have that kind of security.

Barker's experience during 15 years as host, shepherd and soother of nervous studio contestants on "Truth or Consequences" led to his five years as host, shepherd and soother of nervous beauties in May's "Miss U.S.A." and July's "Miss Universe" beauty contests. Each one of these pageants attract between 40 million and 50 million television viewers.

The jobs add some $15,000 to $80,000 a year to Barker's income and appear to be as effortless as reading a paperback novel. They aren't.

Barker, a handsome, outgoing fellow, was in New York briefly during a tour to publicize the "Miss Universe" broadcast on CBS July 24.

"It's not like being an actor," he said. "If I were given a script to learn each week, I doubt if I'd be able to make much of a living."

He appears to have gravitated to his specialty like metal to a magnet. He worked on various radio stations in assorted jobs until 1950 when he and his wife, Dorothy Jo, decided to tackle Hollywood. A week later he had his own show on a small radio station, followed quickly by his first television assignment, a local talent show.

Ralph Edwards happened to tune in the Barker show on his car radio at a time when he was looking for someone to host his long-playing "Truth or Consequences." Bob recently completed taping his 4,000th "Truth or Consequences" half hour.

The daytime program was dropped by a network but Edwards decided to carry it on by selling it to individual stations. "The main thing," he said, "is to hold things together and let the other people get the attention. It's really a variation of the straight man's role."

New Double for NT Lead

LEAD—HD
By Oswald & James Jacoby

for a heart lead? No particular reason. You can't have everything.

Couldn't East bid two hearts and insure a heart lead? Certainly, but if he did bid two hearts South would pass; North would double and set East two to three tricks.

There are all sorts of lead directing doubles. Perhaps the newest one is the Lazard double invented by Sidney Lazard of New Orleans for use against a no-trump game contract where your partner must make a blind lead. The Lazard double tells partner to open hearts.

It is new in contract, but if you were to go back to 1904 you would find this double suggested by J. B. Elwell in his book entitled "Advanced Bridge."

This book was on the game of "Bridge" and the Elwell bid called "The American Convention" disappeared when auction bridge made its debut around 1908.

Today's hand shows the Lazard double in operation. North's two-club response is Stayman and South bids two spades to show his four-card suit. North jumps to three no-trump and East doubles in spite of the fact North probably holds four hearts.

Without a heart lead, South will make at least three no-trumps. The heart lead sets him two tricks.

Why did Sidney decide that the Lazard double should call

Officer Issues Some Blasts, Then Bows Out

SAIGON (AP) — A much-decorated U.S. Army colonel, quitting in disgust, has blasted the South Vietnamese army, the way the Americans trained it and the Vietnamization program.

"If we were going to get involved, and I think we never should have," said Col. David H. Hackworth, "we should have come over and organized the South Vietnamese army into a guerrilla posture, instead of as a direct reflection of the U.S. corps with its divisions and all that junk..."

Hackworth, who was wounded four times in Korea and four more times in 5½ years in Vietnam, said in a wide-ranging interview he found a great difference between the Saigon government's troops and their Vietnamese adversaries.

The North Vietnamese or Viet Cong soldiers are "properly prepared for war," said Hackworth. "Most of their training is on political indoctrination, which results in a highly motivated soldier who really believes in what he's doing." By comparison, he continued, "these jokers in the South Vietnamese army are motivated by a new Honda, a Rolex watch, a refrigerator or a fan, or how many goodies you can get them from the PX. That's it—not, 'Goddam, we're going to win this thing because it's important.'"

Hackworth called Vietnamization, the Nixon administration's plan of turning the fighting over to the South Vietnamese so U.S. combat troops can pull out, "A public relations man's dream, from some guy on Madison Avenue."

"I just don't see the improvement that everybody else sees," he said. "Maybe I am just too close to the trees and can't see the forest. I think it's cosmetic surgery, and the people who are way out there making all those broad statements don't know what's going on." Hackworth, who lied about his age and enlisted when he was 15, has served for 25 years and is in an excellent position to make general. But he said he's quitting because he's just disgusted with the Army in Vietnam, an Army he said was commanded by "amateurs, these ticket-punchers, who run in for six months a year, and don't even know what the hell it's all about."

The United States had all the assets to win the war, he said, but failed because it tried to fight a guerrilla war with conventional tactics.

"We came in with a conventional army, led by conventional people, and all the tactical concepts, if there were any, were conventional."

"We thought we would steamroll our way through this war as we have every other war, World War I, World War II, Korea. We've won by the output of the assembly line, not by a tactical skill on the ground. And you have this tremendous grouping of shallow dilettantes who were running the Army. I'm talking about battalion and up, who didn't know anything about the situation."

"They were saying, 'It'll be over in a few months, we've got the enemy on the run.'"

"We should have come with real professionals, absolute studs, who would stay until the thing is over, all volunteers. There are many guys who felt like me, who would have stayed over here, who didn't care about going home in a year."

Hackworth is believed to be the most decorated U.S. officer now on active duty. He holds two Distinguished Service Crosses, the Army's second highest award for valor; nine Silver Stars, nine Bronze Stars with V for valor, and eight Purple Hearts.

He has twice commanded U.S. combat battalions in Vietnam, served as senior operations adviser in the central highlands, was deputy senior adviser to the South Vietnamese airborne division at the time of the Cambodian invasion last year and has just completed a year as a senior adviser in the Mekong Delta.

A few years ago Hackworth was one of a small group of officers whose views were solicited by Gen. William C. Westmoreland after he became Army chief of staff.

"Westmoreland? ... He was so steeped in management, if he had known what was going on, how this war should have been fought, we wouldn't have gone into this huge—what he called—battle of attrition, a search and destroy mission, which I always thought was a huge waste..."

He sees difficult years ahead for the Army because of the Vietnam experience. "The erosion has cut so deep," he said, that it will take at least 20 years for the American military to recover.

After leaving the Army, he is going to write a book—not a critique of Vietnam but a text on counterinsurgency. "It will be the answer to Che Guevara," he said.

MEDINAS CONFER—Army Captain Ernest Medina talks with his wife Monday morning after a lunch break in his pretrial hearing at Ft. McPherson, Ga. The leadoff witness in the resumption of the hearings said that he had been told by his commanding officer at Ft. Carson, Colo., that murder charges would be placed against him unless he turned state's evidence against Medina, who is charged with 102 murders at My Lai in 1968. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Communist Forces Ambush S. Vietnamese Relief Unit

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist forces ambushed a South Vietnamese relief unit in the Mekong Delta early today after storming through a nearby village and destroying a number of homes. Military spokesmen said 52 persons were killed or wounded.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said North Vietnamese troops carried out three shellings against Cambodian forces early today in the battle for marshlands just east of the Cambodian capital. The Cambodian command also said its 5,000-man drive against the Communists made only 500 yards Monday.

The South Vietnamese command said the Communists attacked the village of Hieu Tu, 60 miles southwest of Saigon just after 11 p.m. Monday, overrunning militia defenses and destroying several homes. Four militiamen were killed, nine wounded and three missing. One civilian was killed and 15 wounded.

Less than four hours later, a unit of regional force and popular force (Ruff Puffs) militiamen were ambushed in marshlands three miles from the town. Thirteen of the troops were killed and seven wounded. Communist losses were undetermined.

It was one of the worst defeats dealt to South Vietnamese militiamen in months.

Militia forces make up half the 1.1 million South Vietnamese under arms. Allied spokesmen and reports from the field today indicated continued fighting below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) at the other end of South Vietnam. U.S. B52 bombers carried out three more missions in the mountainous region below the DMZ in the 24 hours ended at noon today. Two of the raids were within one to five miles from the South Vietnamese Fire Base Fuller, which withstood a rocket, mortar and ground attack by the North Vietnamese Monday and another early today.

The U.S. command said since May 15 the B52s have dropped at least 14 million pounds of bombs on Quang Tri province below the DMZ. Brig. Gen. Vu Van Gai, commander of South Vietnamese forces in the region, told UPI correspondent Kenneth Braddock that an estimated Communist division of 10,000-12,000 men is operating in western Quang Tri province bordering Laos.

War Critics Have Compromise Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — End-the-war senators moved today toward another vote, perhaps the closest yet, on a compromise amendment to set a pullout date.

The bipartisan proposal would require that all U.S. forces be out of Indochina, nine months after enactment, provided agreement is reached in 60 days to release all U.S. prisoners.

Two end-the-war measures failed last week by margins of 8 and 13 votes. This time the outcome was seen as even closer. Republican Leader Hugh Scott was called back from a trip to Europe in case his vote is needed to defeat the latest measure.

The proposal is sponsored by Sens. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo.,

Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, and Vance Hartke, D-Ind. Cook, the main sponsor, previously voted against a series of amendments to limit President Nixon's freedom of action in withdrawing troops.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana introduced a surprise plan Monday calling for an Indochina cease-fire and a total troop withdrawal over nine months, all timed to coincide with the phased release of all prisoners by the North Vietnamese.

Mansfield was blocked in efforts to get the Senate to vote immediately on his amendment, which would have no force of law but would put the United States on record as supporting such a policy.

Earlier this month the Senate defeated an amendment to set Dec. 31, 1971, as the cutoff date.

Three Witnesses to Testify

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — Three high-ranking Army officers are still to testify in the pretrial hearing of Capt. Ernest L. Medina, as defense lawyers seek to prove that command influence kept Medina from testifying in other My Lai trials.

The witnesses yet to be called are Lt. Gen. Albert O. Connor, commanding general of Ft. McPherson; Col. Wilson Freeman, staff judge advocate here, where the charges were filed; and Col. James Mobley, the investigating officer.

Command influence refers to an effort by superior military officers, through the Army chain of command or by weight of rank, to influence the outcome of the military judicial process.

Aubrey M. Daniel III, the Army prosecutor in the case of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., testified Monday that he had received a written order forbidding him from calling Medina as a witness in the Calley trial.

Daniel said high-ranking officers decided it would be inconsistent for the Army to use Medina to convict Calley and then to prosecute Medina on similar charges. The 34-year-old Medina, of Montrose, Colo., is charged with murdering 102 villagers at My Lai and assaulting another.

The former prosecutor testified that the order not to call Medina came from Col. Robert Lathrop, staff judge advocate at Ft. Benning, where Calley's trial was held. Calley was convicted of murdering 22 Vietnamese villagers.

Daniel said that during the Christmas recess of the Calley trial he went to the Pentagon for a meeting with 3rd Army officials as well as representatives of the judge advocate general's office.

The purpose of the meeting, Daniel said, was to discuss whether or not to call Medina as a witness.

He said no decision was made at the meeting, but that it was clear the 3rd Army representatives were against allowing Medina to testify for the government in the Calley case.

Earlier Monday, Maj. William G. Eckhardt, the prosecutor in the Medina case and one of the 3rd Army representatives at the Pentagon meeting, testified he argued against allowing Medina to testify at Calley's trial.

Eckhardt said he feared Medina might use his appearance in the Calley trial to block his own prosecution on charges of murder.

He said he thought Medina's testimony was not necessary to the Calley prosecution because even if Medina had ordered a massacre, the order would have been "patently illegal."

Sgt. Charles La Croix of Ft.

Carson, Colo., a former member of Charlie Company, was the first witness Monday. He testified that high-ranking Army officers threatened to charge him with crimes at My Lai unless he turned state's evidence against Medina.
